The Sikeston Public Library behind the scenes at the library

HOW WE SPENT THE LOCKDOWN

While the threat of Covid-19 spread throughout the Heartland, the Sikeston Library was forced to close its doors to the public. We officially closed on March 18, the same day as the schools. On March 24, we briefly were able to offer curbside service for people who wanted to pick up more library books. Unfortunately, on April 3 that service was forced to close when Scott County enforced a Stay at Home order, followed by the Governor issuing a state wide order.

Through it all, the librarians at the Sikeston Library have been here, working behind the scenes to keep the library ready for when we open again. Here's some pictures of things we did while we were closed.
